Ensuring youth leadership potential is realized

“What we do for ourselves dies with us. What we do for others and the world remains and is immortal”

Albert Pine, English author, d.1851

A MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD

The Foundation’s Board of Directors is composed of people whose lives were changed by opportunities similar to the ones offered to today’s youth, so we saw this as a personal mission to give back to the same community through mentorship and community engagement.

We as a board now begin the challenge of increasing our fundamental goals and refining our strategic plans. We talk in terms of growth aspirations and aggressive targets, best practices, efficient processes and cost management, and key performance indicators and benchmarks – as we look to pair youth recipients with long term leadership opportunities. In our first year, we learned how to establish ourselves in the market of leadership centric youth with financial needs. We plan will continue to broaden our online and social media presence in an effort to generate a larger youth service group to serve.

The CCLF’s future depends on securing adequate funding in an increasingly competitive environment of giving opportunities. We rely on our ability to publicize the successful leadership experiences of our recipients. We will continue to partner with mentors, parents and youth leadership advocates to reach our funding goals.

We reflect happily on a year in which we achieved all of our targets. In 2016 we granted $3000.00 (30 scholarship recipients) and plan to increase the fiscal scholarship budget by 13-15% in 2017. Our donation and funding goals are both daunting and exciting. We are counting on your continued support as it is critical to the success of the CCLF.

I would like to mention the great efforts of all our Web Staff and Board, who have born the challenges of our initial year. We will continue to deliver a unique service to our supporters and recipients.

We are now committed to finding others in the ranks of America’s youth who have leadership potential and may need some financial help to light their leadership flame.

I am pleased to be a part of a foundation that offers help to young people with opportunities to learn leadership principles - in the classroom and in the leadership laboratories of life.

LEADERSHIP is the art of influencing and directing people in a way that will win their obedience, confidence, respect and loyal cooperation in achieving a common objective.*

“If you take care of your character, your reputation will take care of itself.” D. L. Moody

“I mentored, coached, motivated, and inspired the cadets to do great things. I challenged each of them to move beyond what they thought they could do and it was so exciting! In my opinion, seeing your team encourage each other and push itself is the best experience someone could have at encampment. Thank you so much for giving me the opportunity to attend and make a difference in the next generation of cadets!”
